Located on the south side of the street, 17-19 West Washington Street in Hagerstown, Washington County, stands in the eastern half of the block formed by Public Square and Jonathan Street.

The building is a circa 1924 center-city commercial structure of brick construction and four stories in height with a storeroom on the first floor and apartments (?) above. The street level of the facade (north side) has a circa 1950s shop front of polished panels and large display windows. The upper stories of the facade appear to be original and have a series of windows arranged singularly or in groups on each floor. The top of the facade has a stepped parapet with masonry cap stones. Centered near the top of the front is a circular medallion with the letter "C" inscribed in it. Spaced above and between the end windows are decorative diamond-shape masonry ornaments.

Where there's smoke...

A waman directs a stream of water against the Glick's Shoe Store building, near Public Square, as smoke continued to billow from upper floors of the structure Tuesday morning. All tenants of the building had been evacuated at this point, as firemen from several local companies battled the biaze in sub-freezing temperatures.
